PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Gentlemen,

In presenting the Annual Report of the Woollahra Colleagues R.F.C. one can look back over the past year with mixed feelings.

In the main most would have had an enjoyable time both on and off the field. The results in competitions being quite good with a premiership to the Burke Cup, runners-up in Judd Cup, minor premiers and finalists in Whiddon Cup, Kentwell Cup being not quite as successful but certainly a better performed team than results indicate and Richardson Cup as always trying hard and most importantly supplying many members for the higher grades throughout the season. Whilst referring to the Richardson Cup I must point out the most disturbing feature for the club during the season and that is a number of games were forfeited at the end of the competition and this is directly related to a fall in membership, the first time Colleagues have suffered from this problem for some years. I feel the gap left by the loss or decline of experienced players has not been filled by the influx of new members as has been the case in the past. It is of prime importance for all members to spread the word and recruit new members for next year.

Remember, this is your club, the effort you put into it is directly reflected in the results at the end of every year.

Social activities for 1972 were very successful and while not as numerous were well attended and I think this is reflected in the improved financial result. Also contributing to this improved situation were the efforts of the committee and the various sub-committees. We did introduce this year, a system of sub-committees in an attempt to gain the help and expertise of members in a particular field. This has proved reasonably successful and I believe with experience will be even more so next year.

One of these sub-committees has been working quite hard to raise funds for our proposed trip to New Zealand and Fiji in 1973 and has been successful with several pilot schemes which hold promise of excellent fund raising potential.

To all committee members, the team coaches and general members I thank you for supporting your club in 1972, I look forward to a great year in 1973 and now commend your attention to the various individual reports herein.

EDWARD RADFORD,

President

HON. SECRETARY'S REPORT

Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen. I present herewith my report for the year ended 24th November, 1972.

As in past years, the season commenced this year with some early morning, cross country, Sunday runs around Centennial Park. This was attended by a mixture of both the very fit and very unfit members of the club. However, with John Corlis as time keeper, much urging and a lot of personal effort, every person running managed to improve their individual times and prepare themselves for a more enjoyable football season.

I take this opportunity to congratulate the players and coaches for the way they approached the season and for their individual results.

During the season, the club was helped by various sub-committees and it was good to see many of the newer members contributing to the social events of the club and the raising of finances for the proposed trip next season. It will only be through the help of these people and more of our members that our trip can be realised.

The support given to the club by past members of Colleagues and our Vice Presidents in past seasons was again widened this season and I would like to thank them on behalf of the club for their moral and financial contributions.

Our trading results this season show a substantial improvement over last due to the hard work of a few of our members and the control exercised by the office bearers responsible. I hope that the incoming committee will continue this trend and make next season an even better one than the one we have just enjoyed while still maintaining the Colleagues traditions and trying to provide enjoyable football for all those who come to our club.

I look forward to seeing you all again next season and thank you all for your support.

BRUCE DIGGLE,

Hon. Secretary

CLUB CAPTAIN'S REPORT

The year, 1972, has been an up and down year (football wise) for the Colleagues. The disappointing performances of our Kentwell Cup, as was the case with all South side teams, was reflected in our overall position in the Club Championship. This year a tussle ensued between two North side clubs, Lane Cove and Lindfield with the Lindfield club eventual winners of a trophy regarded by the senior members of this club as Colleagues' and a continual reminder to the rest of Sub-District that Colleagues is the best Club in Sub-District. Despite the loss of the Bruce Graham Shield the Burke Cup was retained for the second year in succession with a crushing win over Lane Cove in the Grand Final. The Whiddon Cup reached the Final but were defeated by Bondi Life Savers. The Judd Cup also reached the Grand Final but were extremely unlucky not to have won the game. Our fifth side playing in the Richardson Cup proved to be (much to the anguish of the coach, Chris Fay) a source of new talent and buffering power for the teams above it.

Although the new system of district divisions and district trophies for each division, introduced in 1971 by the Sub-District, has proved to be fairer and more beneficial to the "four team clubs", the introduction of the split North-South side competition has to a certain extent done away with the "home and away" games characteristic of previous years. First division football has, I think, suffered in quality because of this arrangement and plans for a complete reorganisation of Sydney Rugby Union back to a basic ten team competition for First and Second Divisions as well as Sub-District have been recently mentioned in the newspapers.

Coaches and their selections received a certain amount of criticism throughout the year and this may have been initiated by the performance of our Kentwell Cup. In previous years when our Kentwell Cup has been winning games little dissension is apparent, however when things go wrong 60% of the club are suddenly better judges than the selection committee. As a member of the selection committee I must dispel any doubts of bias in selection and state that prior consideration was given to the performance of the Colleagues on the football field. A vote of thanks must go to the coaches for their hard work and perseverance throughout the year.

Although Colleagues were less prominent in their social functions than in previous years, those who attended the Beef and Burgundy Night, the Discotheque Night, the Annual Ball and the Trophy Night will agree that a good time was had by all. Unfortunately the Beef and Burgundy Night clashed with Glen Turner's wedding and attendance was obviously less than normally expected. The Disco night was the first of its kind put on at the club and should be a major attraction in future years. It was rumoured that several "white ants" were successful in undermining the foundations however others were quickly squashed before any damage could be done. The Annual Ball was noted for its first class food, Peter Karr's insistence that the band was on the wrong beat, the arrival of the constabulary to remove carousing singers and the arrival "en masse" at 2 o'clock in the morning of fifty odd people at Stan Duncan's for after-ball revelry. It is again rumoured that several of the neighbours experienced considerable shock and are still under sedation.

Trophy Night, although poorly attended was noted for some amusing revelations on the history of Colleagues by guest speaker, Peter Cribble, the "flowing" comments of Mike Webster on the decor of the carpet and the tiled surroundings of the retiring room, and the award of the Honour Cap to Bruce Chanter.

Old Colleagues Day was well attended by members, old and new, however it is difficult for the Old Colleagues to enlist "new blood" as most "oldies" are still playing for the Club. Bob Martyr made a welcome appearance for the Old Colleagues and demonstrated his ability even after years of retirement, to still kick goals with amazing accuracy. I would like to see a determined effort in 1973 to contact as many Old Colleagues as possible for a reunion to mark our 40th anniversary.

In 1971 plans were discussed for a tour of New Zealand, Fiji and Noumea for late 1973. Fund raising for this tour is well under way and includes, two hundred clubs, chicken . . . drives, raffles in local shopping centres, house parties, telephone books etc. It is hoped that fares and accommodation will be raised as a subsidy to prospective tourists but the amount will obviously depend on those that help. If you are interested in touring or just getting involved in some of the hilarity of raising these funds, get with the strength.

In conclusion, 1973 can be a big year—it's up to you. I'll see you there.

BOB CALDWELL.

KENTWELL CUP

The 1972 Kentwell Cup season never reached any great heights. Up until the second round, the team was well in the running for a semi-final berth. By the end of this round we finished on the bottom half of the South side competition.

We were beaten convincingly by Petersham in both rounds. They played Hunters Hill in the grand final and were only narrowly defeated in what was a great game, showing the standard needed to win future premierships.

This year the backs were a very mixed bunch. In Paul Jurd, Peter Thirman and Graeme Prowse, we had the best wingers in the competition. The centres and inside backs lacked co-ordination and speed and no worthwhile combination was ever reached.

Our back row were good in the tight, with Glen Turner and Phil Marshall playing some very good games. Second rowers were honest and showed drive. As with the front row, they were not as fit as our opponents. The front row never found true combination, but held their own up front.

The season showed we were a second class side in comparison with the semi-finalists. If we are to compete we must adapt a far more dedicated attitude, win at the expense of losing some Colleagues character. This would be shown with full attendance at training every week. Those who, because of family or business commitments, cannot meet this delegation, must step aside for those who can.

The club championship was lost because Kentwell won too few games. The rest of the club is extremely strong, and therefore the obvious conclusion is made.

On behalf of all players who represented the side, I thank John Corlis for his efforts. Unfortunately he did not have a good enough team to begin with.

Finally congratulations to a magnificent Burke Cup team, and to the Whiddon and Judd Cups who did so well.

I look forward to a fresh approach to Kentwell Cup football in 1973.

JOHN MAIDEN

BURKE CUP REPORT

The Burke Cup, for the second year in a row, comes back to the "Halls of Colleagues". It is needless to say that the 1972 season was a complete success, culminating in a superb grand final win over Lane Cove, when one witnessed the consumption of vast amounts of champagne at Chatswood Oval.

The Kentwell grand final referee stated that Colleagues Burke win was the best football game he had seen for the past two years. He regarded the Colleagues rucking as equal in execution as a top New Zealand side. Quite an accolade for the "seconds."

However, the winning of the grand final should not erase the rest of the season. The Burke Cup played attractive rugby and gave the supporters many an afternoon of colourful running football.

During the season many new players blossomed and gave warning to our competitors for next year. Players such as Peter Cannon, Don Holcombe, Dave Ingham, Brian Liverscy and John Beckett.

The old experienced Colleagues players came back and played many times above their capabilities. Footballers like Bruce Donald, Andy Alsop, Darcey Corsie, Mike Caspers, John Jepson, Terry Montegue and Ian Edwards. John Messinger played in his new position like a pro and no one tried more in the grand final than John Pollock, "ole Rock of Gibraltar." Mike Clifford contributed immensely to the punch in our back line which was the best in Sub-District. A special thanks to Mike Fitzgerald for his immaculate captaincy. Without him, during the critical stages, we would not have won the Burke Cup.

The Burke Cup must also thank the players who during the season played with our team and assisted us in our wins. Players like John Keene, John Woodcock, Jim Gordon, John Bunce and Terry Montegue.

The author also thanks all the Burke players for a very successful season and for that the players offered him the opportunity of talking. The execution and attention to the instructions is another topic.

PETER KARR

1972 WHIDDON CUP REPORT

Gentlemen,

Once again a Colleagues coach is committed to writing an end of season report about a side that finished Minor Premiers in its division but sadly and predictably being unable to produce that maximum winning effort needed to win its divisional final.

I use the word predictably as this has been the case, for the majority of our teams, over a long period of years and therefore feel that if the colleagues are to maintain our reputation as the strongest and happiest club in the Sub-District Competition we will need to adopt a more dedicated attitude to our methods of training, i.e. twice weekly and team selection methods.

The above points however are a matter for the Annual General Meeting to decide upon and for the incoming committee to put into practice.

The record for the 1972 Whiddon Cup reads as follows: Played 16, Won 12, Lost 3 and Wrew 1. We were then defeated 11-17 in the South Side Divisional Final by our nemesis of the season Bondi Surf Club who subsequently were defeated 7-13 by the Lindfield Club in the Grand Final.

A total of 60 players appeared in Whiddon Cup this year, a fact which made it extremely difficult to maintain and develop the team work so necessary to win a premiership.

We did however achieve a tremendous team spirit and therefore one cannot be too unhappy about losing the premiership providing that all in the side enjoyed their Rugby to the fullest. This team spirit was shown by the attendance at the end of season dinner, at which John Anderson proved himself to be equally at home either playing Rugby, boat racing or performing the fertility dance of the Colleagues R.U.F.C.

To mention every player who appeared for the team this year, would be impossible. However I would like to give a special mention to the new young brigade of players that featured in Whiddon Cup and subsequently went into the higher teams through the year.

I feel that footballers of the calibre of John Anderson, Bob Adams, Chris Cottman, Pete Hale, Mike Webster, Pete Connor etc, ensure that the Colleagues Club will maintain our high rating in the seasons to follow.

Peter Ball came into the side late in the season and once again showed the courage and tenacity that has been a feature of his play through the years and I feel sure that if he had been captain of the side for a longer period we would have given a better account of ourselves in the final. Peter in fact was the sixth captain to lead the team this year.

Congratulations to Mike Webster on winning the Best and Fairest award for the season. Mike I believe has a ton of potential and only wish he had made himself available for higher teams earlier in the season, as I feel he would have forced his way into the Kentwell Cup side.

I would like to thank all those players who appeared in Whiddon Cup during the year and also thank our supporters for their unbiased barracking on the side lines each Saturday. In thanking our supporters I would like to give a special mention to the one-eyed five, Charlie Messenger, Clarrie Noice, Aub Ball, Cyril Diggle and Mr. Caspers who rarely missed a match all season. I know how it feels for a player to have these gentlemen on the side lines each Saturday helping the referees make the right decisions at all times.

On behalf of the Whiddon Cup side I would like to congratulate Peter Karr and the Burke Cup side for their great win in the Grand Final and also to Bob Caldwell and the Judd Cup for having reached the Grand final for the second successive year. And in closing would like to wish the Club all the best for the 1973 Season.

RONALD A. HARRIDEN,

Coach.

JUDD CUP REPORT

A quick check of the Club Registrar's team records revealed that approximately forty people played Judd Cup at some stage throughout the year. Depending on who was playing at the time the team either showed superb football brilliance and scored convincing wins over the opposition or displayed dogged tenacity with typical Judd Cup football to register some close wins and a few close losses. However, the close wins kept all members of the team "on their toes" and at the end of the season we were Minor Premiers overall.

RICHARDSON CUP REPORT

The convincing wins were very few as those players responsible for the brilliance (for example—Mike Webster and Dave Ingham) were usually promoted to higher grades. The team was, on most occasions, captained by Tony Clifford, whose judicial clearing kicks, as well as his ability to kick goals, more than compensated for his not-so-fleet of foot running. Other players who formed the nucleus of the team throughout the year were: Dave O'Regan, whose game was dependent on the time he got home (?) on Saturday morning; Dave Caspers, who played reasonably well on the wing and should improve with time and experience; Brian Keyser (the club's oldest and boldest) who played extremely well in the Grand Final, his new lease of life this year may be due (?) to his young girlfriend; Wal Hagon, looking slimmer and quicker than ever before; Dave Allman, whose line out jumping provided much good, clean ball to the half back; Bruce Diggle, whose hooking ability is much superior to his cover defence; Barry Pollock, a man of steel in the front row, even after 100 games with the club; Peter Hale, played consistently well as breakaway, a position always keenly contested throughout the club; Bob Cameron, another stalwart of the front row position.

As yet I have said nothing about the Grand Final. After the somewhat poor performance in the Final a bitter tongue-lashing was delivered to the players on many aspects of that game and ended with a strong plea to get psychologically orientated in their approach to the Grand Final. Unfortunately, after a favourable 9-0 lead, this team orientation, which had been apparent for all but the last ten minutes, disappeared with disastrous consequences.

My thanks to the coach and players of the Richardson Cup who played in the Judd Cup. Their ability to blend with the rest of the team when injury in higher grades resulted in their promotion may be best expressed in the words (spoken by myself to the Whiddon Cup coach): "It doesn't matter who you take, Ron, we'll still keep on winning."

It was heartening to see that throughout the season complete co-operation was given to the coach, and the players must be praised for their ability to accept the momentary failures or deficiencies of their team mates on the field without any recriminations.

In conclusion my congratulations to Dave Ingham for his best and fairest award, Peter Karr and his Burke Cup team on their Grand Final success.

BOB CALDWELL

To the club, the principal function of the fifth grade side is to provide a pool of reasonably fit players which may be drawn upon as the season exacts its toll from players in higher grades. In this light the 1972 Richardson Cup squad cannot but be judged as highly successful: four players recruited to the club through the side finished the season in the Kentwell Cup team, our regular captain led the victorious Burke Cup team in the Grand Final and almost every regular player played at least one game in a higher grade.

As usual, the team consisted of a loyally intrepid hard core supplemented by intermittently available casual players and new players who displayed such talent that they remained amongst us but a short while. At times we could have, if allowed, fielded twenty players, yet towards the end of the season we were forced to forfeit two games. The by now traditional staffing problems were the rule rather than the exception—but it was a thoroughly enjoyable season.

High points of the season were the two home games when, urged on by scores of cheering supporters, we raised our game to inflict crushing defeats on the Leprechauns and the Armenians. There were several other games which could have gone either way but were lost by very narrow margins and, because it was a win, the 34-0 victory over the Waitara Wombats (sic) deserves honourable mention.

However, the real stuff of which fifth grade sub-district football is made was to be seen at Castle Cove for our engagement against C.B.O.B. third team. On that day we fielded ten players, one of whom was injured and could only just walk. After twenty minutes we lost a player to the Royal North Shore Hospital with a dislocated shoulder. The remaining nine fought on, and, although the match was lost, were splendid in defeat.

Team Captain was Mike Jepsen until he passed on to greater things, whilst the Best and Fairest player award went to Steve Toland. Since more than sixty people played at least one game in Richardson it might seem churlish to single out but a few, but the assistance and loyalty rendered by such players as Mike Webster, Harry Donald, Dave Hickey and Alan Carrington should be commended.
