PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The Colleagues success in 1996 was extraordinary in so many ways. This is highlighted by the performance of the club in 1997, certainly a contrast. As you read through the reports of the coaches and the financial statements of 1997, you will realise what a difficult year this has been. Having said that, I think that as a club we kept our heads above water on and off the football paddock, and have the makings of a very strong 1998 and beyond. Sometimes we need a reality check, particularly after unparalleled success, and this year has done that for us.

In summary, the club finished fifth in the club championship, which was the same position we finished in 1996. Our most successful side was the Burke Cup who finished third in the competition, losing to Chatswood in the minor semi-finals. Particular recognition should go to Nigel Davis, Peter Colquhoun and the players for their efforts in 1997. I would also like to thank the coaches and managers for the work they put in this year. It should be noted that the club lost more than 50 players from the previous season as well as all of the coaches. To finish in the same club championship position should be duly noted for its worth.

Financially the club has had a poor year. This is totally the responsibility of the President and for that I humbly apologise. However, running a rugby club is a team effort. We had the problem of having insufficient effort from everyone on the committee and I have made a point of ensuring that this situation is not repeated in 1998. The clubs losses for 1997 are attributable to a number of factors. Our purchases ballooned because of the success of 1996 (we awarded just about every jersey the club owned). We have expensed every gear purchase, despite the stock we still hold. Subscriptions were well down on last year. This is a problem for committee to solve for next year. Our bar sales were well down on last year, mainly because the Saturdays at the beginning of the year were wet, and hence attendance's were down. Further, the less success on the paddock meant crowds were generally smaller. Sponsorship moneys were down as well and that money had to absorb increased costs. In sum, very little went our way on the financial front. A lot of lessons have been learnt and I am sure most of these issues will be addressed by the incoming committee.

Looking forward, the club is finally on the verge of building a new clubhouse. I have been at the club or 10 years and the new clubhouse has always been on the agenda. Whilst we need to raise a significant amount of money, we have the approval of Council, the nearby residents and the club members. This will be the single biggest challenge for the Colleagues in 1998 and beyond. It is for that reason, that a separate Committee has been formed to co-ordinate fund raising.

I would like to assure members and supporters of the club, that we are in a strong position to deal with the challenges of the future. There are a lot of fine people at the club, and we should be looking to support them as they take the club in to the next century.

Colleagues are a club for the players, by the players. We must strive to remember what we are here for, and that is to provide the best social rugby environment possible. At times we flounder somewhat, but I know the club has its spirit and its attitude to rugby well and truly intact.

It is great honour to have been President of the Colleagues. I would love to have given the club another 1996, but it was not to be. I am disappointed to be handing on the duties after a tough year, but I will still be involved as much as I can. Once a Colleague always a Colleague. Good luck in 1998.

Toby Lawson
President

SECRETARY'S REPORT

1997 was a year for the Colleagues that answered many questions for suburban rugby in the modern era. The Colleagues saw the emergence of professionalism within its ranks and any uncertainty about how professionalism would affect the N.S.W. Suburban Competition was answered with the win of Hunters Hill in the Kentwell Cup Competition.

In future years with future committees the question to retain the basic amateur status of the Colleagues will remain a constant concern. It would be easy to squander the Colleagues bank balance or alienate sponsors in search of a "Manly Warringah" style premier ship team, but where would that leave us? Statistics will show that Hunters Hill without their Kentwell Cup team would have battled with Hornsby for the club championship wooden spoon. Interesting to note that the Kentwell Cup winners failed to field a Sutherland Cup Team on many occasions and were constantly thrashed in most of their Judd games. Certainly a sobering thought after the finals celebrations.

On the Colleagues front one constant trend has emerged over the last four years Colleagues has become the winter watering hole for the wandering and homeless. No fewer than 70% of players were new to the club each year and less than 50% of those played two consecutive seasons.

In what might be described as another administrative nightmare of a year I seem to recall Colleagues the result of several years experience together gathering in the Burke Cup and witnessing a number of gutsy wins. (Could be a message there !)

The Kentwell Cup side under the guidance of Topo Rodreges was always highly respected by the opposition. Early games proved it is always harder to be the title holder than the under dog and many teams used this as motivation to play their best against us. There were however, many proud moments, none more so than the win against Mosman on the bell, in the second round and the win against Chatswood on Old Colleagues Day. (Secretary's note: I am retiring undefeated, the Kentwell Cup having won the last three seasons Old Colleagues Day games !!!!)

On a lighter note 1998 will be remembered as a very "Mello Year" with all members enjoying a taste of Colleagues hospitality in what should be the foundation of seasons of champagne rugby to follow.

It is with regret that I stand down as Club Secretary after three years due to "work" commitments. I urge all new members to get involved with the Colleagues, and experience one of the great rugby clubs of the world.

Tim Booth
Secretary

CLUB CAPTAIN'S REPORT

1996 was a landmark year in the glorious history of the Giants that saw unprecedented player numbers and success. Many of our key players took the opportunity to retire and we suspect, many others did not back this year due to the competition for spots in 1996. As a result, 1997 has been a year of rebuilding. In this light the year has been a success.

A core group of Colleagues the next generation of champions has been identified and nurtured to the point where they are ready to explode into the 1998 season. This year we have tirelessly worked at developing morale and camaraderie amongst what was largely a new club of players. The adult entertainment and brewing industries have enjoyed the benefits of this Colleagues initiative.

On the park, there were some highlights with the Bourke Cup (1996's only non Grand Final Winner) being the only side to make it to the finals. This represented a remarkable achievement for a young(ish) team and a coach in his first year, Nigel Davis is surely destined for big things in the coaching world.

Another highlight was the involvement of an ex-Wallaby and Puma, Enrique "Topo" Rodriguez as Kentwell Cup coach. Topo is a renowned fitness and scrummaging fanatic. While this lead to a few cultural problems at first, we soon blended into a close knit uni - a Blue Guacamole if you will.

While the club was not as successful as it would have liked on the field, the skills learnt during the year will stand us in good stead for 1998.

Socially, the year was effected by adverse weather conditions in the first half of the season, which also slowed down the Colleagues running game as well (much to the relief of some older players who were not as fit as they could have been - no names). However, some very successful social functions, including the now famous Ladies Days, saved the day. Ladies Day has quickly become an institution for the club that see us give something back to our loyal female supporters. I would like to thank all those players involved in giving it to the shellas - they loved it and you did it for the club!

On the committee, our experience in 1997 was similar to what happened on the field. We had a smaller committee that, despite their best efforts, did not perform as well as the club would of liked. On a positive note, however, the 1997 committee has been very active in ensuring the 1998 committee does not suffer the same fate. A host of the next generation of Blue Giant champions have expressed interest in ensuring the future of the club.

I will not be reapplying for the job of Club Captain in 1998 due to work and family commitments (code for I'm fat and lazy). I have complete confidence in the nominations for the position in 1998 and look forward to becoming an old drunk criticising the committee as quickly as possible. I'd like to thank Colleagues for the invaluable experience I have gained from the position.

Michael Nelson

KENTWELL CUP REPORT

When I commenced conversations with Scott Gray-Spencer in March 1997, with regards to the coaching job at Colleagues, everything was so rosie after the four premierships of 1996. Never had I envisaged what was going to be the world's longest premiership hangover ever, let alone take part in it. But reality (wonderful thing) has always proven a lot of people wrong, I was no exception !

The late start to pre-season, and slow start to the on-season was fatal for those who aspired to emulate a bit of the previous year's feat and achievements. However this experience has laid (in my view) the foundations for the future aspirations of young and old. A very old lesson is that "Its time for everything in life" and "Everything has its time", It's up to us to respect those times and the timing of things, in order to become more efficient in whatever we do.

On the upside, this year was a magnificent experience for me, full of challenges in getting to know many new players, new people and a different club spirit to what I've experienced in 12 years in Australia. Certainly different priorities in life ! but with the rugby heart in the right place and a genuine rugby spirit. Personally I have learnt a few things about people and team work at different levels.

The on-field performance, that stays as history was far from flattering. In the first round we had 2 wins and conceded 7 losses. The second round we showed our true colours and capabilities winning 5, and losing 4 matches. All up 7 wins and 11 losses for a total of 33 championship points. In late June I set out a target of 40 points to reach the finals and we came close to it. I was and am particularly proud of our mid-season resurgence going from 7 consecutive losses to 4 wins in a row. Unfortunately we could not sustain the successful performances for the remainder of the season.

Beating Mosman 21-20 on August 9th at Woollahra, and the ensuing Colleagues Annual Ball was in my view the highlight of the year (despite remembering more of the beginning than the end of the ball). And for the diehard Colleagues, just remember when we flogged the champions Hunters Hill 31-14 at Woollahra on 28/06/97.

On the leadership side we had a great contribution from Troy Warfield, Andrew Gooch and Justin Crawford. They were invaluable assets to our team as leaders, and as players throughout the year in good times and bad times too. Big Thanks.

As I mention during the awards night we had 39 players contributing to the Kentwell Cup team. With these numbers through injuries and absences it was extremely difficult to achieve stability, neverthe less I'd like to thank every one of them for their co-operation and having tried hard in the whole year.

It is normal that in a large group of people some individuals perform well, others under-perform and others over-perform surpassing their potential. On the other hand, their contribution to the team (a totally different thing), it was very well regarded and much appreciated.

KENTWELL CUP REPORT

However, if I could give other awards for different types of contribution and commitment, I'd take the risk of missing and make a list as follows; Mark Gibson, Sean Kelly, Andrew Black, Andrew Dance, Grant Tracy, Matt Bates, Guillaume Brahimi, Charles Maxwell, Dye Griffiths, Bryn Griffiths, Tsuyoshi Okamura, Adam Upton, Martin Jeffries, Dennis Orrock, Will Cummins, Nick Burnham, Andrew McBride, Rob Shaw, Hugh Beverage, Paul Woods. And a special salute to Hugh Urquhart on his sterling contribution to the club through many years of dedication.

To the captain 'Nelo', many thanks for being the resident 'c & c' (clown and comedian), many times we needed someone to tell us after the games that "life was worth living", and to keep us in a good sense of humour. Moreover, he maintained and projected consistently our "image and sociability". Nelo you certainly didn't disappoint anybody in this department !

We had some very tough moments at the beginning of the year and the support of Scotty and Nigel was crucial especially during selection times. "Scotty", many thanks for your guidance and much needed "light". Nigel Davis, a real pleasure working closely with you, thanks for your help. Joe Robinson, thanks for your knowledge, experience and time when fine-tuning the backs.

Nothing works without the support of administration and committee men. Richard McGrath, you know that I didn't demand much, but whatever I need, I always want it now ! Many thanks mate ! A real pleasure to have been associated with you during the rugby season. To Grant and Jerry a huge thanks for your professional services in keeping the guys fit and on the track.

Toby Lawson "the presso", like a younger brother, helping with advice, liaison and communication with other parties, thanks for all that. The rest of the family, Big Tim Booth providing a bit of "cool head" inside "the big sauna", thanks mate for your help and good times. Martyn Roberts solved a problem or two, thanks for that. To Glyn Breeze mate, worthy club man of the year winner. You made us look terrific, your work is dearly appreciated by the whole club, big thanks !

To David Crawford and family, that stuck with us for the whole year and in particular when filling-in a few matches as our manager, many thanks for your help. Finally to our supporters, for their continued encouragement through thick and thin, a hearty many thanks.

Enrique "Topo" Rodriguez

BURKE CUP REPORT

"THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY"

Getting to the semi-finals was a well deserved reward for a good season.

However it was disappointing losing to Chatswood in the finals , as just one week before we had had a solid win against them. Finishing third in the competition and having beaten all three remaining finalists, certainly gave us high expectations of a grand final win

The first half of the season saw the nucleus of the team form. Tom Jones, Paul Henningham, Sam Gibson in the forwards. Brad Davies, Matty Roberts, Deckers, Andrew Jollife and Brad Tayer in the backs.

In the second half of the season the team consolidated and kept improving with every game. Dougal Lamont took up the position of captain and with his leadership, team spirit equalled any Colleagues Burke Team of old.

Finally we would like to thank Topo & Scotty for their help and experience and all who played Burke Cup; Tom Peter Charlie, Hugh, Will, Dougal, Michael, Alister, Andrew, Nigel, Sam, Toby, Chris, Bryn, David, Gethin, John, General, Angus, Andrew, Nick, Ben, Matt, Hugh, Brad, Dennis, Paul, Rob, David, Craig, Andrew, Matt, Brad, Darbs, Justin, Nick, Go, Lennie and any one we've missed, thanks !

Whiddon Cup Report

"Another season passes for the Blue Giants". and although it may not have been as successful as the year previous, it certainly was an enjoyable one.

Being Whiddon coach under a new coaching regime was not something which came easily. The content battle to hold the same side each week taught me tolerance and understanding of both the club and other coaches problems.

The season start saw the Whiddo's out all guns blazing 3 wins on the trot. With 4 players from the previous years grand final team the early rounds were trial and error, jockeying for positions and settling down of the various grades. It was evident that early in th piece that the Whiddon standard had gone up a notch from the previous year with St Pats, UNINSW, UNIW/SYD and Waverley being the main players.

The second round saw us sitting In 3rd position but any loss would see us slide dramatically. Finally we needed to win just 1 game from the final 5 to seal a finals berth, however it was not to be. With injuries compounding pour form it was a disappointing end to the season.

The team was fountunate to have the services of Hugh Beverage late in the season also Boothie who kept the scrum together against some formidable opposition. All in all the Whiddo's lost or won every game except for one by a margin of only 4 points, a measure of the high team spirit.

Thanks should also go to people such as Pete Calig Sinkers, Buysie, Woodsie, Schally, Geth, Sharpie, Thommo, Nello occasionally, General (Full season next year please for Boothies sake!) and the rest of the team, for their efforts they made all throughout the season.

Special mention to Rohan Bowman as Captain and congrats to Johnny Purbrick for being awarded the club's player's player.

Also to Sam Sproats for his support as assistant coach during the season his input was an asset to the team. Also to the other coaches for their help in my initial coaching year.

Wishing the club all the best for 1998, here's hoping it will be a good one for the "Mighty Blue Giants"

Regards

Richard Skellern

JUDD CUP REPORT "Oh What a Year"

Despite the final position of the Judd Cup team in the 1997 competition (7th) there was certainly at one stage the opportunity for the team to make the semi-finals. The team also showed some glimpses of talent which certainly augur well for the future.

Unlike previous Judd Cup teams over the last decade a conscious decision was made by the club not to retain players in the team to create an "All Star Team." Many players who played Judd quite deservedly gained selection in higher teams during the year and this contributed greatly to the overall club championship position of the club (5th). Unfortunately this may have hindered the chances of the Judd Cup team to make the semi-finals.

Certainly the turning point in the season was the sides loss to Hornsby (away) when running in 5th place. A win would have put the team into 4th position. The loss on the bell in difficult conditions was certainly a body blow, one which the team never fully recovered.

Other highlights were the teams performance against St Patricks (away), where, despite losing to probably the best team in the competition, they showed the type of rugby that they could play when committed.

There were a plethora of players who represented Judd Cup this season and I will not attempt to name them all. Certainly stalwarts of the team were Ed Nicholls, Glyn Breeze, Marty Roberts, Andrew Welsh, Tom Robinson, Brendan Carpenter, Sam Paradise, Jack Brenac, Angus Morris, Ben Cohen, Snake (Andrew Willis), Craig Extrinn Andrew Thompson and of course Tim Booth.

Of course it would be remiss not to mention the efforts of my co-coaches, Adam Thomas "The Tool" Tilley and Norm "Supercoach" Jamieson. Certainly both added a new dimension to the team "coach" particularly Norm who can only be described as another master coach reminiscent of Jack Gibson in his heyday in the 1970's. Norm ran one training session with the forwards playing as the backs and the backs playing as the forwards. Certainly this achieved, if nothing else, a high degree of sympathy for the forwards (if you were a back) or for the backs (if you were a forward).

Finally to Marty Roberts and Andrew Welsh for captaining the team during the season

SUTHERLAND CUP REPORT

1997 - 7th

SEASON RESULTS

Played;	18	Points for;	183
Won;	7	Points Against;	193
Drew;	1
Lost;	10

All in all a thoroughly enjoyable and almost successful season for the mighty fives. Many times we were left lamenting at the one that got away. As the points for and against show, many important games were lost by narrow margins. Our wins included wins against the eventual Premiers, St Patrick's, 4th placed Chatswood and 5th placed Mosman and a draw against 3rd placed Old Iglations. That just shows what we could do if we tried.

Our commitment to training was somewhat lacking and from memory there was only one occasion when we had a full squad of 15 on a Thursday night which led to a convincing victory over Mosman, who finished just outside the final four. Special mention and thanks to Richard McGrath, Matt A'Beckett, Greg Quinn, John Ryan and Tim Sutton for being ever present on Thursday nights.

At times it was difficult to put a team together on the Saturday but with Duncan being a terror on the telephone, 15 players were always found even though the Fourth Grade coaches figured it was their god-given right to poach our players that took many phone calls to get. Do they not own phones?? It was even more disappointing to put 15 players together 15 minutes before kick-off only to lose them to a higher grade and have to run onto the paddock short. Consistency of personnel would have led to a far greater success rate.

Although we suffered from inconsistency of personnel a very enjoyable season was had by all. Special thanks to Richard McGrath for his strong captaincy through the season and also for reaching the milestone of 100 games for the Blue Giants. Well done Richard and thank you for your assistance. Congratulations also to Matt A'Beckett, the best and fairest of the year and to Greg Quinn for playing every game of the season. Thanks also to James Hogan for his strong defence and pommy humour, Barnaby Richardson for saving more than one try, Andrew Cameron who proved to be a fine five-eight and Adam Casselton for always giving 100%. To those not mentioned thank you for your efforts and for making 1997 an enjoyable season. Last of all thank you to Geoff Fenwicke for his coaching input with our backline, which always fired on the Saturday after his coaching efforts.

Perhaps with some consistency and commitment we will achieve our potential in 1998

Duncan Paul & James Maxwell

COLLEAGUES COLTS

History was made at Colleagues this season when the club fielded a team in the Suburban First Division Colts Competition.

Initially, Colleagues supplied the coaches and East's Colts supplied players (reserves from their U/19 and 3rds), in fact the first competition game were entirely East's players. As the season progressed the East's players decreased and Colleagues players emerged. Training was on Monday & Wednesday nights on Woollahra Oval with the East's colts teams. From these beginnings the team as a Colleagues entity grew.

The team consisted of the Colleagues ; Peter Minucos (Capt.), Daniel Fitzgibbon, Mark Walton, Shem Pearson, David White, Duncan MacConachie, Nick Ridge, Grant Pisano, Gary Hastings and Karl Cooney. Simon Clarkson and Ben Wood created a milestone as both were sons of former Colleagues players.

Our thanks to the East's players who became regular Colleagues throughout the season ; Adrian O'Conner, Alex Wade, Wade Kelly, Adam Spitzer, Ben Hickman and James Barkell. We know the boys enjoyed their initiation into Colleagues Rugby

The team had an international flavour with appearances by lads from England - Phillip Scott-Priestly, James Leather, David Walder & James Boyd. Scotland - Chris Tully, Ireland - Graeme Little and France - Tibord ?

The outstanding game of the season was against Uni. at home. The team was augmented by a couple of GPS reps in Chris Dalsch and Stephen Blacker, we were ahead 10-8 with less than 2 minutes to go when one of the players suffered a "brain attack" giving away a penalty on our 22. From the ensuing tap Uni scored in the corner. Final score 13-10 against the ultimate premiers.

For the record we won 3 games (2 on forfeit) our winning game was at home against Uni of West Syd. We forfeited 3 games and came 9th on the table (Waverley dropped out of the comp and forfeited every game but still had a better for / against differential). Some outstanding losses were 57-7 to Mosman and 62-0 to Old Iggies in the first round. The return match against Old Iggies was a 15-7 loss, which demonstrates the improvement as the e season progressed.

Chris Foote and Brian Wood, as co-coaches, were brought back to earth after last years Whiddon Cup victory. The colts are a long term project and we set a three year plan to get a competitive team. Special thanks to Tim Booth, his help and support in the early stages of compiling the team made the Colleagues Colts a reality.

All the players in the team deserve great credit for backing up every week and giving their best (a commitment to training would not go astray). Virtually all the players were first year out of school (U/18) while the suburban competition is (U/21).

The boys showed very quickly they had the makings of future Colleagues by their bravado, team spirit and a sense of a good time at all costs.

Next year shows far greater promise than this year did, all boys are coming back next year so we are already looking good !!!!
